Dear Friends,

Thank you, once again, for your continued commitment to Girls Inc. Your generosity ensures that Girls Inc. girls have the mentorship and experiences to reach their full potential. I am pleased to share an update on the progress we have made, thanks to your support.

These past few years have required resiliency, adaptability, and unwavering determination to reach our goals. Your partnership has allowed our vision of powerful girls in an equitable society to continue to guide us, and it has kept us optimistic. I am proud that our programs and services have consistently resulted in transformational outcomes for girls, allowing them to emerge stronger, smarter, and bolder than ever before despite the challenging environment they are navigating.

Completing this second year of our Strategic Plan, we are well positioned to chart our path to resiliency and sustainability with a clear vision and bold goals. We owe deep gratitude to our colleague Patricia Driscoll, who retired in 2023 after dedicating over thirty years of her professional career to Girls Inc., for her contributions in getting us to this point. I am also thrilled to announce the appointment of our new Chief Operating Officer, Lisa GharTEy Ogundimu. (You will read more about Lisa later on.)

Perhaps one of the most heartening aspects of this past year has been our ability to reconnect with so many of you via our in-person events, with our staff through continuous learning initiatives, and with girls through our proven programming. It is good to be back together in so many spaces.

In the pages that follow, you will learn about the investments we are making in DEI and Leadership Development. We will report on innovations to the Girls Inc. Experience, as well as on the progress we are making with our alumnae offerings, as we forge and facilitate connections among the powerful women who embody our organization’s purpose.

From inspiring stories of transformational outcomes in girls’ lives to new initiatives made possible through your generosity and those of our partners like Yoplait, Allergan Aesthetics, Mizuho, and Porsche, this report is a testament to the power of our community. We are proud of our success, but also know we must stay focused and redouble our efforts so that more girls can benefit from the Girls Inc. Experience. With your continued support, we will see this new generation of leaders take their rightful seats in our communities, our professional networks, our governments, and beyond.

Sincerely,

Stephanie J. Hull, Ph.D.
President and CEO

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT
For nearly 160 years, Girls Inc. has been creating a more equitable world, with and for girls. The Girls Inc. Experience offers life-changing opportunities that help girls envision themselves as the leaders they are intended to be, the leaders we all need. As you will see throughout this report, participation in Girls Inc. leads to remarkable outcomes—especially for girls and young women of color and those growing up in low-income communities.

Thanks to your contributions, Girls Inc. continues to show financial resilience that indicates long-term sustainability despite the challenges faced in the aftermath of a global pandemic. I am pleased to announce that Girls Inc. delivered impressive results in the 2023 fiscal year. Our operating revenue was $18.5M, 6 percent more than budgeted, and we ended the year with total net assets at $55.5M. Girls Inc.’s capacity increased this year thanks to a renewed, multi-year partnership with Lilly Endowment and continued multi-year partnerships with Enterprise Holdings. The thoughtful stewardship of the generous gifts we are entrusted with are demonstrated in the financial reports that follow. Of note, in fiscal year 2023, 86 cents of every dollar spent went towards girls’ programming, well above the standards set by the top industry Watchdogs like GuideStar, Charity Navigator, and the Better Business Bureau. Girls Inc. continually takes steps to increase and ensure our financial resiliency and sustainability.

We also made significant advances in building the infrastructure and systems that our strong and sustainable network of affiliates requires in order to deliver the excellent experiences that help girls succeed. The need is great, but Girls Inc. is a thriving organization that is ready to face those challenges and provide meaningful solutions.

As the Girls Inc. National Board Chair, I am immensely proud to serve this great organization. The purpose of Girls Inc. has never been more important than it is today, as girls and women continue to face great inequities in many areas, including leadership and bodily autonomy.

On behalf of the National Board, I want to thank all of you—donors, friends, supporters, and colleagues—for your unwavering support and your shared commitment to building a new generation of leaders. Because of you, Girls Inc. is leading social change with its mission of inspiring all girls to be strong, smart, and bold.

Sincerely,
Tony Bucci

Lisa Ghartey Ogundimu, Esq., comes to Girls Inc. from the New York State Office of Children and Family Services (NYSOCFS) where she served as deputy commissioner for the Division of Child Welfare and Community Services.

As COO, Lisa brings deep operational acumen to key support areas. Leading change management processes across our organization, she will also serve as a trusted thought and business partner to the Senior Leadership Team, and will provide support and guidance to our entire affiliate network.

Lisa will draw on experience garnered in her previous executive-level leadership role at the NYSOCFS, where she oversaw a robust array of services designed to support families by creating alternate pathways of intervention beyond the traditional child welfare response. She has a longstanding commitment to just and equitable child and family well-being through a lens of race equity and social justice. In her work she cultivates a culture of collaboration and shared accountability.

Lisa received her bachelor of science in foreign service from Georgetown University and her J.D. from Pace University School of Law.

Having devoted my career to supporting young people and equity, in my capacity as the COO of Girls Inc., I aim to leverage my expertise to assist the organization in further enhancing our illustrious 160-year history of providing mentorship, safe environments, and data-driven programs that together ensure all girls are provided the tools to move confidently, know their worth, and proudly take up space.
Hello! My name is Lila.

I am an alumna of Girls Inc. of Santa Fe attending George Washington University. I first started at Girls Inc. when I was five years old and have been a part of Girls Inc. for 13 years. Girls Inc. is my second home and family. Everyone there has either seen me grow up or has grown up with me. I’ve participated in various enriching activities, including afterschool programs, spring and summer camps, and leadership groups. Through the Teen Leadership Council (TLC) and the National Teen Advocacy Council (TAC), I found my passion for activism and dedication to creating positive change.

Girls Inc. is also where I got my first job. I served as a program facilitator leading the same groups I once participated in as a child. Witnessing these kids in a familiar setting evoked a profound sense of fulfillment. I couldn’t imagine my life without Girls Inc. Thank you Girls Inc. for supporting me and helping me grow to be strong, smart, and bold.

Watch the video of Lila in action as she speaks to issues that matter most to her on the steps of New Mexico’s state capitol.

ALLERGAN AESTHETICS

BREAKING BARRIERS IN STEM WITH ALLERGAN AESTHETICS

Girls Inc. is proud to celebrate our multi-year national partnership with Allergan Aesthetics which is committed to mentorship and creating opportunities for young women to confidently explore and pursue STEM careers. Mentorship opportunities allow girls to see themselves in all places. Through this partnership, girls were exposed to women physicians associated with Allergan Aesthetics, who shared their career journeys and tips on how to overcome challenges that women in STEM often face. The guidance that Girls Inc. girls received further equipped them to develop meaningful careers and achieve their goals. We are grateful for Allergan Aesthetics’ commitment to Girls Inc. and to building the new generation of leaders.

YOPLAIT

OPEN UP AND BE BOLD WITH YOPLAIT AND GIRLS INC.

To highlight the power of Girls Inc. programming, Yoplait launched a national partnership encouraging women and girls everywhere to “Open Up and Be Bold” by sharing their strengths. By embarking on the simple, bold act of saying the qualities girls love about themselves out loud, they can build up their confidence. Throughout Spring 2023, Yoplait’s “Open Up and Be Bold” packaging featured Girls Inc. branding and powerful quotes from alumnae inspiring girls to confidently express themselves and grow into strong women!
The Porsche 911 Sally Special, inspired by the character Sally Carrera from Disney and Pixar’s animated film Cars, was auctioned for a record price of $3.6 million at the RM Sotheby’s Monterey Auction in August 2022. The one-of-a-kind vehicle was created to commemorate the 20th Anniversary of Sally Carrera, and embodies the spirit of the character as well as the strong, smart, and bold girls we serve. Girls Inc. is grateful to Porsche and Pixar for their generous donation, which will support the work of Girls Inc. National and Girls Inc. of Greater Atlanta.

This year, Mizuho Americas selected Girls Inc. as the charitable partner of the Mizuho Americas Open, a new LPGA tournament. To celebrate the launch of the partnership, which includes a $500,000, three-year grant supporting leadership programming for girls, Mizuho invited participants from Girls Inc. of Long Island to an exclusive clinic with LPGA Champion and Tournament Host Michelle Wie West, with a behind-the-scenes tour of the course. In addition to sharing golf tips, Michelle gave the girls valuable advice about weathering adversity and embracing leadership.

For the first time since the pandemic, Girls Inc. donors gathered again on the East and West coasts to celebrate women who are role models of leadership and the power of the Girls Inc. Experience. The luncheon in Los Angeles honored President and Writer - Producer, SisterLee Productions, Yvette Lee Bowser, Actress, Producer, and Writer, Marsai Martin, and Founding Partner of Del Shaw Moonves Tanaka Finkelstein & Lezcano, Nina Shaw. In New York, we had the privilege of honoring iconic Costume Designer, Entrepreneur and Stylist, Patricia Field, Singer, Songwriter and Activist, H.E.R. (Gabriella Sarmiento Wilson), Co Anchor of “Today” and Co Host of “Today with Hoda & Jenna,” Hoda Kotb, along with Corporate Vision Award winner, Walgreens. During these events, donors also had the opportunity to hear from exceptional young participants who shared their personal Girls Inc. Experiences.

As a former National Scholar myself, I know the excitement that the scholars are feeling today. I want you to know that the work you are doing right now, the experiences you are having, they are not only going to stick with you for the rest of your life, they are going to make a difference... I was always good, but Girls Inc. made me great.

Special message from Symone Sanders-Townsend, political strategist and political commentator, former chief spokesperson and senior advisor to Vice President Kamala Harris, and Girls Inc. alumna.
ADVOCACY

ADVOCATING FOR AND WITH GIRLS

Girls Inc. is committed to advocacy grounded in the lived experiences of the girls in our network. We bring an intersectional, racial justice, and trauma-informed lens to our work, and advocate for policies and practices that:

• Support girls’ health and wellbeing;
• Foster school climates that are conducive to learning for all students, particularly those from underserved communities and those who face discrimination because of their race, color, national origin, sex, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, and/or religion; and
• Combat systemic racism, sexism, and other social and economic barriers.

Girls across the Girls Inc. network learn to be civically engaged, advocate on issues that matter to them, and envision a world where girls and all youth have what they need to grow and flourish, in school and beyond. It is our mission—now and always—to support girls and to ensure that their rights are recognized and respected.

MENSTRUAL EQUITY

Led by our girls’ voices, the Girls Inc. National Public Policy team works to bring attention and action to the lack of access to the products that allow girls to manage their periods with dignity. Twenty-four percent of girls report having missed school due to lack of access to period products, and almost 85 percent believe the issue needs more attention.

In 2023, Girls Inc. Week focused on Menstrual Equity, providing educational, advocacy, and marketing resources for Girls Inc. Affiliates. Girls learned about why menstrual equity matters and raised their voices to increase awareness of the issue and support change.

At the policy level, Girls Inc. is leading efforts to pass Federal legislation that would make menstrual products free in schools, and make safe, affordable products accessible to ensure all girls can participate fully in their lives, schools, and communities. As such, Girls Inc. is a key supporter of both the Menstrual Equity for All (ME4All) Act and the Period P.R.O.U.D. Act.
In 2023, Girls Inc. launched a new initiative to grow girl-led advocacy throughout the network.

We provided grants to six Girls Inc. Affiliates - Limestone, New York City, San Diego, Shelbyville, Tarrant County, and Worcester - to create local Teen Advocacy Councils (TACs) at their affiliates. Comprised of 10-12 girls each, these TACs identified and learned about issues the girls care about and developed their advocacy skills. Each program culminated in an opportunity for the girls to put their new skills to use in influencing change in their communities. We are excited to welcome another eight Affiliates to the program in 2024.
The Girls Inc. Experience provides a comprehensive approach to whole girl development through three core components proven to help girls realize and reach their full potential: people—trained staff and volunteers who build lasting, mentoring relationships; environment—pro-girl, inclusive and equitable, brave space with shared respect; and programming—intentional, interactive, relevant, and culturally responsive. Our attention to the needs of today’s girls propels Girls Inc. to continually evolve our programming experiences, working with external partners and experts in the field to provide education and resources that help girls build the knowledge, skills, and confidence to be leaders and effect change in the world.

As part of our continuous evolution, and to address the needs of girls today, we revised our healthy sexuality programming to help girls grow their agency over their bodily autonomy. We enhanced our media literacy programming to help girls safely navigate the ever-changing digital landscape that includes mental wellness management and tools for deciphering the accuracy of the messages they encounter. For those entering college and career, Girls Inc. programming creates thoughtful pathways to leadership building the foundation for equitable workplaces and working with partners committed to driving Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) and embracing women in leadership.
OUR ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION IS GROWING

Girls Inc. remains steadfast in its mission to inspire girls to be strong, smart, and bold. Through the Alumnae Association, we seek to connect exceptional women who once walked the path of Girls Inc. with tools to navigate the next phase of their life journey.

At the heart of our Alumnae Association’s purpose is to ensure that the Girls Inc. journey doesn’t end with graduation, but rather transforms into a lifelong adventure. The Association aims to help participants grow their professional network with a sisterhood of support among other Girls Inc. alumnae across our network of 75 affiliates, and by providing meaningful content needed to thrive in their personal and professional lives.

Over the past year, we’ve welcomed close to 1,000 members, and our family continues to grow with each passing day. The response from former Girls Inc. participants across the US and Canada is a testament to the enduring impact that the Girls Inc. Experience has on our participants’ lives.

We are energized by the prospect of further expanding our network, creating even more impactful learning opportunities, and strengthening the bonds that tie us. The dedication of our alumnae, the passion for Girls Inc.’s mission, and the unwavering support of our community are the driving forces behind our success.

Strong, Smart, and Bold Video Series: Zahra Phillips
Girls Inc. is committed to building the world we want to see for girls, and that starts with developing a pipeline of leaders within our ranks and ensuring that our staff has the resources they need to develop their abilities. The Girls Inc. National Office serves as the hub for professional growth and training. Our learning management system serves the entire network to enhance staff and volunteers’ knowledge, equip them with skills to deliver a high-quality Girls Inc. Experience, and sustain their thriving organizations. Over the last year, we’ve committed to enhancing our leadership development offerings through the Talent Development Pilot Cohort. Launched in January 2023, the purpose of the cohort is to design, implement, and revise a shared approach to performance management that can be adopted by the network and applied to a variety of staff structures and service delivery models. In its first year, the Talent Development Pilot cohort was charged with incorporating the Girls Inc. core and leadership competencies into our performance management cycle. (Subsequent years of implementation will incorporate functional competencies as well.)

The Talent Development Pilot Cohort consists of five affiliate teams and one team from the National office who will conduct this work throughout the remainder of 2023.

Underpinning this work is the collective, continuous commitment of the Girls Inc. National office, Board, and affiliate leaders to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI). In the next phase of our DEI journey, the National office, spearheaded the Affiliate DEI Roadmap Pilot Cohort, composed of ten affiliates, with National staff supporting the group by identifying equity and inclusion improvement opportunities and developing success benchmarks to ensure accountability.

Grounded in the spirit of inclusion, and leveraging Girls Inc.’s federated structure, our network is able to harness the collective strengths and strategies of its network to develop and deploy systems within its workforce and the communities in which they operate.

The affiliates chosen to lead this work with the support of Girls Inc. National includes:

- Central Connecticut
- Chicago
- Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Area
- New Hampshire
- New York City
- Tarrant County, TX
- Tennessee Valley
- Wayne County, IN
- YWCA of Minneapolis
